

COVID-19 UPDATES BY STATE

First and foremost, please know that each of us here at RSI are working nonstop in an attempt to provide you with the most accurate information affecting your State.

We will continue to spend our days working with our partners, wage and hour attorney's as well as sifting through the affected States Government updates as well as the Federal updates. We are committed to provide you with the latest websites, and decisions regarding employee compensation, tax payment deferrals, possible insurance loss of business claims and their effect on existing compliancy. The attached links will be reviewed and updated twice daily moving forward.

This is obviously a very dynamic situation and we've dedicated every possible resource to provide you with any and all strategies for surviving during this difficult time. We encourage you to send over via support request any websites, conversations and clarifications you want to share, and we'll make sure to address them.
